REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES ON THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE TOWN LIBRARY

After the vote of the town to build with brick there was $2,100 available, with interest accrued. In such a case an architect's fee and a contractor's profit would have taken too large a share of the amount; hence the trustees themselves made the plans and bought the materials and superintended the work. The best materials were procured, the workmanship is first-class throughout, and it is believed that there will be little or no need of repairs for years to come. The underpinning, although it has a three-inch cut chamfer, was secured at the price of plain stone,—as it was originally cut for a building elsewhere. The brick was from an extra good lot at the Lebanon yard, and was laid by very competent masons. Cement was used to strengthen the mortar. The roof is covered with slate and copper, materials the most durable to be had for the purpose. The plaster, made from lime putty which had seasoned several weeks, was hardened by admixture with cement. The interior is 25 ft. by 33 ft., in one room, finished in hazelwood throughout and varnished. This includes the window casings, the vestibule and door, the shelving which extends entirely around the room, and a panelled ceiling overhead. The brick walls are double, 8 inch and 4 inch, with a 2 inch air space, 14 inches total; there is also the air space behind the plastering; so that the building should be exceptionally dry and easily warmed. This end is further secured by having the floor of the cellar covered with a thick coat of cement-mortar and the cellar walls well pointed.

The fine cut granite steps and abutments and the portico were made possible by the gift of Mr. Henry C. Whipple in memory of the late Mr. Dodge of this town. The vault, added by special vote of the town, is entirely outside of the building itself, and is as fireproof as brick and cement-mortar can make it. This feature is very important as affording a safe depository for town records, and any other documents or valuables of small bulk, such as church and society records, etc., which the custodians may wish to place beyond the risk of loss by fire. The interior dimensions of the vault are  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 9 \times 8$  ft., with another space about  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 5 \times 4$  ft., over the basement stairway.

In the erection of the building acknowledgements are due to the following parties for the interest and goodwill manifested, as follows:—To Mr. Hunter, Superintendent of Buildings, Dartmouth College, for allowing some of his help to come over at critical times, and for selling seasoned lime putty for the plastering; to Spencer Brothers of Lebanon for drafting the details of the finish; to Martin Merrill of Lebanon for prompt and personal attention to the delivery and placing of the stonework.

In size the building is larger than was immediately needed for merely holding the books now in hand, and the shelf room is sufficient for an increase for some years to come. But it is believed that in these convenient quarters the library will have a more rapid growth, and that the room may be available at times as a reading room; also that here may be collected the portraits of some of the citizens now passed away, maps, documents and objects of historical interest, etc.

It is to be expected that there will be a growing interest of the whole town and patriotic home sentiment which will increasingly center about this library as the years go by. When the shelf-room now provided is outgrown, it will be possible to place book-cases so as to form alcoves on the north and south sides.

The suitable furnishing of the building was not possible with the resources in hand; but loyal friends and citizens have generously stepped in and made such a substantial beginning that the building is already handsomely fitted for service. The donors and the gifts are specified beyond.

In connection with the planning and erection of the building the trustees had ten conferences altogether, in Hanover village, at the site, and at the shops in Lebanon. More than fifty other trips were made, involving a total travel of nearly 500 miles, by one or more members of the Board, to arrange for the work or to superintend it while in progress. One member freely gave the use of his team for this purpose; another prepared the plans and blueprints and made frequent visits; the local member closely supervised the work and gave much personal assistance day after day. For all of this there is no charge against the town. The Board thinks that the citizens should understand that only in this way,—and in spite of the higher cost of materials, the difficulty of getting skilled labor when needed, the delays in receiving the woodwork, and other setbacks,—has it been possible to turn over to the town at this time a commodious and thoroughly built structure at a cost far below what is usual for buildings of like size and quality.

Particulars appear in the Treasurer's report.

REPORT OF TOWN LIBRARY

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT

Whole number of volumes added 39. Magazines 304. By purchase 1; Professor Mann 7, and 165 magazines; Robert Fletcher 14; Mrs. C. D. Smith and Miss Frances Hildreth of Lebanon 139 magazines; H. D. Foster 1; C. F. Richardson 1; H. M. Tibbetts 14, and 6 pamphlets; Miss K. E. Spencer 1.

Notwithstanding the small number of volumes added this year, owing to the bookshelves being all filled and crowded for room, there has been a good interest manifested and a very creditable number of books loaned.

We are glad to notice that a majority of the young people are selecting many of the best and educational books.

Respectfully,

T. W. PRADDEX,
Librarian.

BOARD OF EDUCATION, DISTRICT NO. 1

We herewith submit our annual report upon the work of the schools of the Village Precinct of Hanover. That the report may cover three complete terms, we report for the calendar year from January 1, 1905, to January 1, 1906.

We have been fortunate in retaining the services of experienced and successful teachers. Their work has gone on quietly and effectively. Their frequent reports to the parents, showing the scholarship and deportment of each pupil, have enabled parents to cooperate with them in improving the work of the school. It is always to be remembered that the most important work of any school lies in the faithful performance of the daily duties of the classroom. This is work that cannot be described in our annual reports, and that fails to catch the public eye. But we believe this essential work has been well and faithfully done.

In the Grammar School only has there been a change of teachers. This school, under the efficient care of Miss Bertha M. Cole of Lebanon, is doing orderly and sound work, and is recovering from the interruption necessarily caused by two changes of teachers within the year.

The High School has come fully into the five years' course of study, and is giving a thorough preparation for college, together with a broad course for those who do not go beyond the school. The arrangement by which the President of the College assigns to the school two graduate students of high standing, as teachers supported by the fund of the Moor's Charity School, gives to us without expense a large addition to our teaching force. We have also had this year the voluntary service of Mr. H. B. Preston as teacher of a class in history. Mr. Preston is a graduate student in history in the College, and an assistant in that department. His generous service to the school has been of great value. The High School has now a full four years' course in History and Civics, a course that will do much for good citizenship as our pupils go out into the community.

With the growth of the High School it becomes increasingly important that scholars follow consistent courses of study. Scholars out of course are liable to constant conflict of hours, and are less encouraged to carry their studies on to a definite end. Parents can be of great assistance by familiarizing themselves with the printed course of study, copies of which may be obtained at any time from the principal.

On June sixteenth the first class to complete the new five years' course of study received their diplomas. The exercises were in every way a credit to the school. The following program was presented:

Salutatory—Nathaniel A. Emerson,

Colonial Expansion of the English Colonies.

Oration—Mary A. McCarthy,

If Walls Could Speak.

Oration—Leon C. Marshall,

The Panama Canal.

Oration—Bessie G. Lord,

A<sup>E</sup><sub>2</sub>Vermonter's Inheritance.

Oration—Asher A. Clement,

Washington's Contribution to Nationality.

Class Prophecy—Ellen M. Sullivan.

Oration—Homer E. Read,

Advance in Gold Mining in California.

Class Will—Fred B. Plummer.

Valedictory—Joseph W. Worthen,

The Tyranny of Public Opinion.

The statistical reports show a large increase in attendance over that of 1904, especially in the fall term of 1905, an increase that continues in the current winter term. This is due in part to the new Vermont school law, under which the Town of Norwich pays the tuition of those of its High School pupils who are enrolled here. The Norwich delegation has always been a good one, helping by the earnestness and character of its pupils as well as by their financial contribution.

The growth of our village in recent years presents new problems as to provision for the schools. We have now almost as many pupils as our building will accommodate, and in some rooms more than can find proper accommodation. The increase in numbers in the High School has made it necessary to have many of the pupils study at home, for no room in our building, except the large hall, is large enough to seat the school.

The two Primary Schools are also steadily increasing in numbers, and we must before long make some provision for more room for at least one of them.
